By the foregoing it will be seen that when first incorporated this Association was allowed to hold property, real and personal, to the amount of fifty thousand dollars only, which, in 1826, was increased to one hundred thousand dollars; in 1848 it was increased to two hundred thousand dollars; in 1869 to three hundred thousand dollars; and finally, in 1880, to the present limit, — six hundred thousand dollars. Originally, the officers of the Association were a president, vice-president, treasurer, nine trustees, and secretary, constituting the board of government. In 1813 a committee of relief was chosen, consisting of three members. During the years following the number was increased, and since 1829 it has been nine. The number of trustees remained nine, until 1849, when it was increased to twelve, and so remained until 1898, when it was made thirteen. At first the membership fee was seven dollars, — five dollars for the general fund and two dollars for the funeral fund, with an annual assessment of one dollar. The funeral benefit was forty dollars. In 1823 the membership fee was raised to ten dollars and the annual to two dollars. In 1842 the membership was raised to fifteen dollars, and in 1849 was graduated according to the age of the candidate, ranging from fifteen to twenty-five dollars. Later it was raised to twenty-five dollars for the youngest and fifty dollars for the oldest; and still later it was made seventy-five dollars for those more than sixty years of age. In the meantime the funeral benefit had been raised to seventy-five dollars. But in 1894 the membership fee was made twenty-five dollars for all alike, and no funeral benefit was allowed for the families of those joining after that date. The annual dues still remain at two dollars. The payment of stated sums monthly to indigent members and their widows began in 1812, and has continued without interruption to this time. The total amount paid out in this way amounts to the sum of one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars. The Association was organized in 1795 with eighty-three members. Since its organization nearly four thousand have joined, of whom about six hundred and fifty are members at this time. Paul Revere was the first president, and Horace H. Watson, our present president is the thirty-fifth. Since its organization it has had forty-two vice-presidents, nine treasurers, and nineteen secretaries.

This is the fourteenth edition of the By-Laws issued by the Association since it was incorporated, — the first having been in the same year — 1806. Other editions followed in the years 1814, 1822, 1829, 1834, 1838, 1842, 1849, 1855, 1861, 1879, 1889, and 1895. Previous to 1889 each edition was called the "Constitution," but at that time the opinion was held that the original Act of Incorporation was virtually our Constitution, and that the regulations formulated under that authority were By-Laws; and since that time this practice has been followed.

In these several editions changes in the provisions have been made to conform to the demands of business and the customs of the people, leaving little resemblance at this time to the original code.

As in former editions, some account was given of the "Mechanic Apprentices' Library Association," then engaged in a very important work; and as it no longer exists, a brief statement of the main facts of its history will be given.

The Apprentices' Library was gathered in 1820 by members of our Association, but mainly through the efforts of Mr. William Wood, a retired Boston merchant. It was designed for the sole use of mechanics' apprentices, and was the first library ever collected in the world for this particular purpose. It was managed by members of our Association, and its current expenses were paid from our treasury. In 1828 the "Mechanic Apprentices' Library Association" was formed, and later its members assumed entire control of the library, subject only to the supervision of the parent Association.

For many years it was successful, — at times especially so. From year to year, for half a century or more, our Association made regular appropriations of money for the purchase of books, rent of their rooms, etc. As the number of apprentices grew less, through the evolution of events which has now substantially made the old apprenticeship system a thing of the past, the interest abated, their numbers became less, and the attendance ceased. By the original agreement, in case their meetings should be abandoned, our Association should take possession of their effects; and as this contingency occurred about twenty years ago, our Association had the library and other effects stored, where they so remained until a few years since, when they were distributed among such members as chose to take them away. From the character of the books and the lapse of time they were of value mostly as keepsakes, and considerable effort had to be made to induce their removal.

This act finally closed the material career of an institution of great merit and value to our Association and to the city of Boston; and to-day many a business man is proud of the fact that in the years gone by he was a member of that organization. The "Veteran Apprentices' Association" still lives and meets every year, with constantly decreasing numbers, to renew these old-time memories. Its history ought to be written to preserve to the world the record of one of the most wisely conceived and meritorious institutions ever originated in this city, prolific, as all the world knows, in devices to benefit the race. The child has thus passed away, while the parent Association, in this the one hundred and fourth year of its existence, still lives and adheres to its original motto, — "BE JUST, AND FEAR NOT."

Massachusetts Charitable Mechanic Association.

BY-LAWS,

AS ADOPTED DECEMBER 15, 1898.

PREAMBLE.

It is universally admitted that the combined operations of Preamble.
the MECHANIC POWERS have been the source of those useful inventions and scientific arts which have given to polished society its wealth, conveniences, respectability, and defence,
and which have ameliorated the condition of its citizens.
Rational, then, is the inference that the association of those who conduct those powers in their operations will prove highly beneficial in promoting mutual good offices and fellowship;
in assisting the necessitous, encouraging the ingenious, and in rewarding fidelity. To effect these desirable ends, the present associates agree to be governed, as a society, by the following By-Laws.
